Paris, 26th—The Chamber of Deputies commenced the discussion on the new Custom House duties bill to-day.

St. Petersburg, 28th—Grand Duke Nicolas, uncle of Czar Alexander, died yesterday.

REPORT OF THE NATIONAL BANK.

The report of the Board of the National Bank for the year 1890, to be read to-morrow before the annual general meeting of shareholders, is a document of much interest. We think that the record of this bank is unique in the banking history of the world. The following is the report:—

Messrs. Shareholders,

We have the honour of informing you of the working of the bank in 1890. It is a painful duty, as we are bound to explain a situation in which serious responsibilities must be attached to the former managers of the Bank. The long standing, great importance and national character of the institution failed to impress on the managers of the bank the necessity of ordinary precautions in the handling of the monies of the public, which should not be frittered away in worthless loans; the very fact that the responsibility attached to such management is not individual, but collective, should not excuse mismanagement.

Dr. Velez Sarsfield used to say, with much truth, that "banks were robbed with signatures, not with keys." We see an imprudent distribution of money, not only owing to the class of people favoured, but also owing to the enormous sums lent; we see cases where large amounts are considered lost and the respective debtors actually look upon the fact as a mere accident that in no manner affects their credit or standing; verily, one is amazed at the responsibilities that accrue through loose supervision in loans and discounts, and one wonders at the proportion of certain grants to certain people who had neither the standing nor credit to entitle them to such liberality.

The Bank and the Government have marched hand-in-hand; all the laws and privileges granted by the latter have served to draw closer the connection between both, and the very shareholders connived at the combination. The results of that intimacy are:—

Loans to members of the Government, to all kinds of politicians whose liabilities have not been met and whose assets are illusory.

Investments of the bank's funds in stock speculation.

Advances at very long dates.

Loans to Governments to meet their ordinary expenditure: the service on these is a dead letter or very irregular.

Purchase of provincial loans which are a dead loss to the Bank.

Purchase of fraudulent provincial issues for reasons unknown, and at all events unjustifiable: in spite of all efforts the Bank has not been able to secure any compensation.

Purchase of national loans to build railways at a quotation seven points higher than that stipulated by law, thus paying out enormous profits to some parties and burdening the bank.

Purchase of stocks, an operation outside the limits of the bank's business; no explanation is given of these transactions and losses are considerable.

Intrusion of the Government, which had direct and unquestioned control over the internal management of the Bank: entailing violation of the bank's secrets, details of the indebtedness of debtors, all facts and figures being communicated at the interpellation of the Executive.

Furthermore, a prominent member of the Government used to enter the Bank and give orders over the heads of all the directors and managers, without any protest, for the delivery of large sums of money to certain individuals.

Complete mismanagement of the bank and utter disorder in the internal administration of affairs.

Management of the bank's funds by parties who had no authority whatever to do so.

Acceptance of drafts by employees of the Bank for amounts from twenty to thirty times larger than the respective amounts authorized by the Board of Management; amounts still unpaid to-day; some of these have not even sinking funds fixed on the bills.

In a period when the Board ordered the stoppage of all discounts, the chairman took upon himself to lend a heavy amount to one of the bank's debtors—an amount equal to twice the liability of that debtor at the time—not to mention that on previous occasions fresh guarantees had been requested from the party in question and that the state of the Bank was critical.

Appropriation of the bank's funds for speculative purposes.

Purchase of loans at the expense of bribing one of the directors who happened to hold bonds of the loan.

Loans to third parties where operations showed that they were for account of those who granted the money.

Loans to promoters and managers of joint-stock companies to buy in the shares of their respective companies.

Appropriation of the bank's monies by managers of branches of the bank to operate on their own account or to lend to concerns in which they were interested.

Local managers discounted the bills of parties utterly unknown.

Loans to individuals who turned same into obligations of joint-stock companies which have not paid the service on their debts.

Utter want of discipline in the bank's personnel and thorough disorganization in the ordinary mechanism of the bank.

The records only checked to 1885; utter absence of index to same, and a vast accumulation of documents that baffle classification and investigation.

Nearly all the important operations of the bank are shrouded in mystery for want of the necessary documents to explain same.

Utter control of the branches by the local managers and independently of the local, boards which did not exist or were not renewed.

No supervision of accounts either in the head house in this city or in the branches.

As the managers and clerks of the bank were engaged in speculattve enterprises they could not attend to their business in the Banks.

Last not least, there was a want of sincerity in the management and a spirit of duplicity in the systematic attempts to prove that the bank was in a normal and prosperous condition: false balance-sheets were published to deceive the public; furthermore, illusory dividends, that never existed, were distributed.

To crown this terrible banking scandal, there are in portfolio bills that appear "paid"—yet their owners have not taken the trouble to withdraw them: the account of bad debts has not been kept for a long time, and the total is insignificant compared with the turnover of the bank.

To quote the report again:—One can make ample allowance for defects and irregularities in a bank of the magnitude and immense field of operations of the National Bank; but nobody can excuse operations that are at variance with all banking rules, operations in which the managers of the Bank have direct or indirect interest: such indulgence to the wishes of the Government is criminal.

No, Messrs. Shareholders! You have been accustomed, year in year out, to hear of the satisfactory results of the bank's working; you have listened to promises that induced you to invest your fortune in these shares, but you have been too credulous, you have taken no pains to verify those assertions, those promises; the present situation of the bank shows you that you must resort to other means to confirm the statements of the managers, that you must avail of the laws that entitle you to investigate the bank's affairs. The present Board of Management show you the course to pursue; they have painted a picture of the exact situation of the Bank, just as it stood when they undertook the management. Much remains to be done in the task of reform that the Board have inaugurated.

The situation of the bank calls for special study. The Board do their best for the interests of the Bank and are inflexible in securing tangible guarantees against credits granted, especially in a situation like the present when debtors make it a point to overlook their debts to the State banks and pay others, when such parties answer the bank's demands with a display of worthless shares and mortgaged properties—properties often mortgaged for far more than they are worth.

The critical situation of the country has completely changed some of the fundamental principles that should hold sway in all well organized communities. Extravagance and speculation have been the disturbing factors that honest trading must remove. We have to struggle against the dishonesty of some and the fanciful hopes of others, both expecting a change for the better, a revival in affairs, and shirking their obligations.

The present system of working in the State banks has its good and evil sides: the former enables a man by means of easy credit to accumulate capital; the latter shows a sad lack of guarantees to follow up unscrupulous debtors, and leads to abuse when a bank is mismanaged.

Fortune and independence must be won by hard work and savings: those who endeavour to get at the desideratum without the work produce a disturbance and radically alter the conditions of society.

Official Banks have doubtless been the principal disturbing factors during this epoch: banks lend to Governments and to individuals who forget that the loan is not a gift, and has to be returned. Commerce and industry did not obtain the protection of the banks, and politicians and speculators absorbed their money in prodigious sums, whilst the others only received illusory promises.

The logical result followed: the banks were compromised in their credit and capital, and the inventors of the system found themselves either ruined or in low water. Money placed in speculative operations has been the agent of these great difficulties and the factors of the situation in which the reserves are absorbed by losses, whilst trade and labour have produced disastrous results.

After investigating the situation of the bank, the Board understand their duties, and have commenced to remedy the position, taking all precautions and measures compatible with the carrying out of the most pressing operations; but the work is complicated and it is impossible to attend to all requirements in the midst of such difficulties. If the Bank is to respond to the ends for which it was created, it is indispensable that we should remedy the past, whilst keeping an eye on the future. How can we obtain these results in the midst of a situation full of dangers?

The management will now put its house in order, and no past defect or fault will be passed over in silence, whatever interests have to be wounded; if necessary, and acting on the advice of the Bank's lawyers, the penal as well as the civil law will be called into play.

The operations of the past few years could not have been more direful, and no hope can be held out to the shareholders in the immediate future. Nevertheless, we can promise that there will now be a prudent and honest administration, which will merit that full meed of confidence required in banking operation. The Bank will thus be able to rehabilitate itself gradually, regulating its management, improving its portfolio, carrying on its business prudently, and imposing on all its employés the strictest morality and precise fulfilment of duties.

The balance-sheets and accompanying tables clearly show the position of the Bank, as also some of the operations it was considered necessary to effect. We may be excused from going into greater detail and from compiling a list of the measures taken to correct defects or to fill vacua in the management.

In accordance with Arts. 42 and 43 and clauses 1 and 2 of Art. 66, the shareholders must now proceed to the appointment of two directors for the term of two years, in the place of Messrs. Rocha and Basavilbaso, who have completed their term of office; of another director for one year in the stead of Sr. Guerrico, resigned; of 2 "suplentes" to replace Messrs. Drysdale and Marini, and of the Auditing Committee.

HELP FOR THE POOR.

The most effectual measures yet devised for mitigating the sufferings of the poor in the present period of distress, so far as we can judge, are those adopted by Major Barritt of the Salvation Army. We are well aware that the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, composed mostly of native ladies with a few of European extraction, does much good in a quiet way among distressed families, but its action has been more or less paralysed by the crisis and is insufficient to relieve the thousands of poor foreigners in our city, although the ladies of the Society bestow their charities alike on natives and foreigners.

Meantime we have before us the startling fact that Major Barritt's shelter receives 47 British subjects nightly.

These people are within measurable distance of starvation, and Major Barritt asks the aid of the British public to give them some food. Such an appeal is sure to meet with a ready response from our readers. We learn that two English residents in the city of La Plata generously defray all the expense of rent and food for the refuge established in that city.

Major Barritt solicits a subscription of at least one paper dollar monthly, which is little more than a shilling, and in return each subscriber will be provided with 25 coupons for free meals, to be given to distressed persons. It would be manifestly impossible, as he says, to give 25 meals for a paper dollar, were it not that many persons by larger donations make up the deficit. We quote from Major Barritt's letter the following paragraphs:—

"Amongst the readers of your paper are to be numbered hundreds who are kindly and benevolently disposed towards the suffering poor, and the noble and Christianlike stand you have taken in the matter has done a great deal to spread this feeling of kindness.

"Some donations that have been sent have never reached us, as they were not registered.

"In addition to the night's shelter and the morning and evening meal we are giving soup, bread and meat at 11 o'clock every morning for 5 cents; this is much below the cost price, but we hope to receive help in the shape of food and donations which will make up the deficiency."

OUR PARIS LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Paris, March 21, 1891.

Prince Napoleon is next to already forgotten. The truth is, that since six years he was a political encumbrance, incapable of achieving anything useful, and a Marplot for other matters. He was a Jacobin by temperament and a Cæsar by inclination and calculation. The former is antiquated, and the reigns of Napoleons I. and III. have annihilated the latter. He had his day, his opportunities and his rewards, but they failed to make him a man of the period. His life now belongs to history and can well point a moral and adorn a tale.

His wife, the Princess Clotilde, merits unqualified praise for bringing her husband into the fitting state of mind that should characterize the moribund. His sins though as scarlet can be made as white as snow. He is not the first eminent free-thinker who has seen the errors of his ways when brought face to face with death, and feels the hollowness of human pride and the deception of mundane vanity. Religious people, no matter to what church they belong, have been spared the pain and the scandal of a departing soul remaining callous to Christianity and indifferent to its moralities. "Requiescat in pace."

Beyond the sentiment of curiosity, not much interest is taken in the future movements of the defunct's family. The disposal of his fortune is a privacy for his heirs. He had only in his imagination, like other pretenders, hereditary rights to dispose of. Modern and advancing societies ignore these; their only sovereignty is universal suffrage; it requires no heirs and disposes of its own will. France is as indifferent to a Napoleon VI. as she has been to Napoleons IV. and V. The Bonapartic dynasty, legend and hereditary rights are entombed at Superga. Prince Victor inherits nothing, not even a coterie, still less a party. Nor is his brother Louis likely to dispute a phantom heritage; he is said to hate politics, wishes to serve his time in the Russian cavalry, wed a Russian beauty and live a country gentleman on a Russian estate.

In point of ability the two sons of the departed prince are next to null. Their temperament is leavened with the Italian "Dolce far niente." Neither of them would head a Strassbourg raid, nor a Boulogne adventure; neither would commit the imbecility of the Duc d'Orleans, and they are strangers to a fast life like his and the heartless conduct of jilting a "cousine" after allowing himself to be publicly proclaimed her betrothed. Nearly all the Bonapartists have rallied to the republic, and Cardinal Lavigerie, more and more warmly seconded by the Cardinal Archbishop of Paris, Monseigneur Richard, will convert outstanding impenitents to accept the Government France has definitely chosen for herself, and not link the Church to any dynasty, or to take up any pretender. That the great Cardinal has the approbation of His Holiness in the prosecution of his common sense and truly patriotic work is evident from the fact that his antagonist, the Bishop of Augers, Monseigneur Freppel, has, since his return from the Vatican eschewed active politics.

The coming reconciliation between Prince Bismarck and the German Emperor is casting all other matters into the shade. If effected, the European pack of cards will undergo a fresh shuffle. The reconciliation is not viewed as a pledge of peace. It appears that William II. has proved unequal to manage the Socialists. Greater minds than his have failed to grapple with the Labor unrest. The manifestation for the First of May in Paris, while being more numerous than that of last year, will not be the less pacific. Every precaution will be taken to stamp out the slightest attempt to play at disorder. Public opinion would rapidly become hostile to labor amelioration if violence was resorted to as a means of reform. The government and the legislature have afforded sufficient evidence of their readiness and sympathy to handle and grapple so much of social improvement for the working man as is ripe, and to concede improvements by instalments. As regards fixing uniformity in 9 hours of labor for adults, and a corresponding scaling of wages or salaries, these cannot be entertained. Besides, the artisans, etc. have lost way with public sympathy by their refusal to work in with the Superior Council of Labor.

The authorities have had occasion to act sharply with the remnants of the Boulangist party. The dissolved League of Patriots has been secretly attempting to reform in a disguised manner, but the Old Adam was visible. The police dropped upon the wire pullers, and seized some compromising documents. It is a curious coincidence that this flicker up of smouldering Boulangism should tally with the arrival, and next to secret residence of the "brav Général" at Brussels. The Belgian Government will receive a hint to make the stormy petrel move on, and as his absence is desired at Jersey, he has no safe refuge but the United States. The new law voted by the Swiss Federation makes residence in that republic very ticklish for politicians on the run.

The law on Foreign Professionals may be considered as voted. Henceforth no doctor, dentist or midwife will be able to practise their ordinary calling in France, unless furnished with a diploma to kill or cure from one of the French Faculties of Medicine. However, any doctor established one clear year prior to the promulgation of the law will not be asked to go to school again. There is no difficulty for any sharp Bob Sawyer, well up in French, presenting himself for the Gallic diploma. He will only have to pay the fees—not enormous—for admission, to stand his examination at the Faculty of Medicine and abide by the test. But, if plucked, he, like any French student, cannot present himself a second time. The new law will affect those shallow foreign doctors who swarm into the south of France during the hegira of the invalids. Perhaps these medicine men will recommend their patients to try Italy, or go down into Egypt. The French authorities cannot altogether be blamed for the passing the new law, since Paris swarms with foreign doctors; when some of the latter come to grief at the Assizes, it turns out that they were not holders of any diploma. The law cannot allow Frenchmen to be killed by doctors that are no doctors, still less permit bogus professionals to practise mortal experiments on foreigners, distinguished or the contrary.

Much pleasure is felt at the safe arrival of General Mitre, and the enthusiastic reception accorded to him. His presence is a veritable material guarantee for Argentina. He knows, as he stated at the farewell banquet given to him at Paris, the causes of her misfortunes, and the simple remedy, not only to remove them, but to prevent their recurrence.

The situation at Tonkin could be better, but it is not to be concluded to be desperate. The French authorities have made the blunder to strip the Protectorate too bare of European troops, and to replace them by a militia composed of natives, who go over to the pirates or rebels with arms and baggage when the occasion offers. France cannot desert the colony; that would ruin her prestige in the Far East; but she must expend more men and money, and not be in a hurry to make Tonkin great, glorious and free. When the country is secure, and not till then, will trade or commerce settle there.

'Shamrock' was selling in Paris on St. Patrick's Day, in order to raise a fund for the relief of the poor Irish. The speculator secured something to drown his "Tria juncta in uno."

THE GALICIA MAILS.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

London, April 4th

The Queen took exercise in Miss de Rothschild's gardens yesterday morning, and had a drive in the afternoon to a picturesque place twelve miles from Grasse. To the Sub-Prefect and the local physician, who, with their wives, were invited to take tea with the Queen on Thursday, her Majesty expressed the pleasure she was deriving from her sojourn in Grasse. The two Princesses yesterday visited some extensive perfumery works.

From Rangoon it is reported that fears are entertained as to the safety of Lieutenant Grant's detachment of eighty men, who, when the outbreak occurred at Manipur, were marching upon that place. Mr. Quinton has summoned a Durbar, but only the Rajah appeared; and, as the Rajah's brother refused to obey a second summons, Colonel Skene was despatched with troops to attack the Palace. After some fighting they had to retreat to the Residency, where they were attacked by the Manipuris.

The miners had another heated discussion yesterday in their International Congress in Paris. Some excitement arose now and then on the platform; but the chief disturbances were caused by the people in the galleries taking a noisy part in the proceedings of the Conference.

The Spanish Budget of 1891-1892 will, it is announced in Madrid, show a deficit of between fourteen and sixteen millions of pesetas. It is also stated that the Governor of the Bank of Spain consulted the leading shareholders about the principal points in the project he is preparing, with the Minister of Finance, to increase its note issue, subject to a proportionate increase in its metallic reserve, the Bank undertaking to make fresh advances to the Treasury.

Prince Ferdinand has addressed a letter to M. Siambuloff, expressing indignation at the murder of M. Beltcheff.

The latest information from New York about the difference between the United States and Italy is that the Italian Minister at Washington delayed presenting his letter of recall for more than a week. He presented it on receiving peremptory orders to do so, and within an hour was directed by a telegram from the Marchesse di Rudini to postpone taking the final step. It was then too late, as the diplomatic rupture had been make publicly known.

The Australasian Federation Convention has rejected the one man one vote principle in the voting for members of the House of Representatives, on the ground that the question should be left to the Federal Parliament.

The remains of the late Earl Granville were last night sealed in the coffin, preparatory to their removal to Stone for interment.

The result of the polling in North Sligo was declared yesterday, amidst intense excitement, the McCarthyite candidate, Alderman B. Collery, being elected by a majority of seven hundred and sixty-eight over Alderman V. B. Dillon, Mr. Parnell's nominee, the majority being much smaller than the Anti-Parnellites had predicted. A petition was afterwards lodged against Alderman Collery's return.

Money was quoted at 2 to 2½ per cent yesterday, and the discount rate was not better than 2¼ per cent. Quotations on the Stock Exchange were heavy throughout, and business extremely poor. Consols were quoted as before, at 96⅜ for cash. The Bank, on balance, received £25,000 in gold from abroad.

BRITISH HOSPITAL.

At the General Meeting held on the 24th April, 1890, Messrs. John J. Drysdale, J. H. Getting, Louis J. Lowe and J. H. Higgins were elected to fill the vacancies on the Committee, and Messrs. Goodwin, Wright, Drysdale. Musson, and Hill were elected as suppletories.

Mr. Runciman giving notice early in the year of his going to Europe, Mr. Wm. Goodwin was called upon to fill the vacancy thus caused.

Of the present Committee Messrs. Huxtable, Runciman and Wallace retire by rotation, and Mr. Getting having resigned, four subscribers have now to be elected to serve on the Committee, as also the usual five suppletories.

Dr. Hugh Jamieson's engagement expiring at end of the year, the Committee took the usual steps to engage a successor by writing to Messrs. Burgoyne and Co. to advertise in the "Lancet" and "British Medical Journal," and the best thanks of the Committee are due to Dr. Colbourne and Mr. Runcimant, both of whom were in London, for the time and trouble given to examination of the larger number of applications, interviewing the most likely candidates and forwarding the result of their winnowing operation, viz. five applications (out of some 120) which were, together with four applications presented here, discussed in Committee Meetings held 12 and 18 November, resulting in the election of Dr. John O'Conor, a gentleman who had been in the country nearly twelve months, during which period he successfully passed in this City the three examinations required by Argentine Law.—The Committee have reason to expect that their selection will give satisfaction in every way.

The Committee have much pleasure in reporting that the appointment announced last year has proved a complete success and would here record their thanks to Miss Eames and the staff of nurses for the very efficient manner in which they have carried out their duties, and especially to Miss Eames for her valuable assistance in the general management of the Hospital.

The Committee desire to acknowledge with thanks the courtesy of the Directors of the Convalescent Home in receiving Patients from the British Hospital.

The steam laundry was finished in July last and inspected by Mr. Lowe, but the Committee regret to report that after several months' trial, instead of being an economy, it is an extra burden on the funds of the Institution owing to the heavy working expenses.

Owing to the steadily increasing number of patients, especially those requiring private rooms, the question of providing more accommodation must be taken into consideration, and the Committee would suggest that instead of building a new ward, the Laundry machinery might be disposed of and the building at present occupied by it utilized and adapted as a women's ward. On other page will be found a list of amounts received, and the Committee would here thank those who on many occasions assisted so materially towards the successful result of the Benefits.

In the month of May last a letter was received from Mr. Boadle suggesting the formation of a Committee to raise funds for the purpose of improving the general appearance of the wards and making them somewhat brighter; the idea meeting with the approval of the Managing Committee, Mr. Boadle was authorised to carry it out, such Committee to act in concert with the Visiting Committee and with their approval. The result has proved satisfactory, the amount collected being $ 2,413 with which the women's ward has been painted, decorated and supplied with 10 new comfortable beds, besides which various articles have been supplied to make the patients generally more comfortable and happier; furthermore, the sum of $350 has been expended in plants, flowers, vases, etc. Sincere thanks are due to the ladies and gentlemen who have carried on this work.

Fire insurance has previously been effected on a paper basis, but the Committee have thought it advisable to change the system, and the buildings with furniture, etc., are now insured for $100,000 gold.

The Ledger Balances and Statement of Revenue and Expenditure are appended as usual.

The Committee would call attention to the fact that against the debts at this date, say $12,760, there were only $3348 to meet same, and, therefore, it is to be hoped that many more friends will come forward during 1891 with subscriptions towards this maintenance of this charitable institution and that those already on the list will see their way to increasing their help; and the Committee would point out that, as it is quite impossible for the collectors to see every one, the Hon. Treasurer will always receive contributions from anyone who may be anxious to give any sum for this object. As regards the various suggestions made from time to time for collecting, the Committee's opinion is that if one or two members of the various circles would interest themselves in the matter many more subscribers might be enrolled.

Special thanks are due to Messrs. Lamport and Holt for bringing out drugs, etc., free of charge; to Mr. Moulsdale for making up and auditing the Hospital books for 1890; to Mr John Grant for printing this report, and to the Editors of the STANDARD and Herald for favors received.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The only sensation yesterday—and it was a big one—was the report of the National Bank, to which we refer elsewhere. The shareholders wore a "finis Polonis" cast of countenance all day. The Gold Eagle, not being a shareholder, did not move much. The Clerk of the Weather must hold a few shares, as he looked cloudy in the afternoon.

The news from Montevideo is that they are hard-up again there, and President Herrera up half the night poring over financial problems.

There was a scare and terrific hullabaloo in Belgrano yesterday morning caused by a squadron of cavalry charging a mad dog, and firing their revolvers at the quarry as he dashed away. All the dogs in the place joined in the chase, and the scene was supremely funny. The butchers bill consisted of three dogs killed, an Italian vendor of eggs ridden over and several dozens of his wares smashed. The mad dog made good his escape.

We have to acknowledge receipt of late English papers up to the 5th inst. from the Red Star Agency of 572 Victoria, and from Messrs. Mackern and Shine, the Bookstall Kings.

An avelanche of circusses is upon us! Frank Brown opens on Saturday next in an enormous tent at the corner of Cuyo and Montevideo, and, on the same evening, Frank Roberts' American Circus Company will make its debut at the National Theatre. In addition, the Pepino Company will this week commence a season at the Florida Gardens, with "Juan Moreira" as the "cheval de bataille."

There was a rumour from Rio yesterday that the Bank of Brazil has been put in a "tight place" through the miserable little loan it has advanced to the Banda Oriental.

We acknowledge with thanks the receipt from Mr. Jacob Peuser, the leading publisher, of a copy of de Vera's interesting "Cuentas de Tropa." The author is an Argentine Maxwell or Lever, and his stories are full of adventure by flood and field.

An evening contemporary makes the terrible announcement that since the infants wicket at the Foundling Hospital has been closed, dead bodies are found nightly thrown over the wall, or against the railings. This is shocking.

Washington advices of March 22nd state that the steel-cruiser San Francisco will at once proceed down the West Coast and join the Baltimore (Rear-Admiral McCann) and Pensacola in Chilian waters. Also that, on account of the continued serious condition of affairs there, the steel-cruiser Charleston (Rear Admiral Brown) will probably follow the San Francisco in a few days. Rear Admiral McCann being the senior officer would be in command of the fleet, but only temporarily; as he will probably soon return to the South Atlantic station in the Baltimore leaving the Pensacola on the West Coast.

Who feels inclined to buy a dead bargain in the shape of a whole agricultural colony? The National Mortgage Bank has one for sale, that of Rocamora in Entre Rios. There are 63 concessions of 95 acres each with $50,000 in Cedulas on them; upset price $53,361.

The National Treasury paid to-day $15,152 for the travelling expenses of our Congress representatives.

We much regret to hear of the death in Honolulu of Mr.——Green, brother of our much esteemed old friend and correspondent in London, Mr. Joseph Green. The late Mr. Green was a scientist of high attainments and was up to two years ago, when he resigned, a member of the Government at Honolulu, where he was held in the highest esteem by all classes, both for his remarkable abilities and personal qualities. The cause of his death was his zeal for science, as he was in the habit of passing whole nights on volcanoes, to satisfactorily observe their action. Only a few weeks before his death he published a pamphlet in reply to Dana, on the subject of his pet science. We offer Mr. Joseph Green our sincere condolence on the loss of his distinguished relative.

The fall in the price of land lots in Sleepy Hollow (the city of Santa Fe) is calculated to sicken the hearts of those who own pieces of their Mother Earth (it's enough to make them dis-own her) in that quarter. Lots that were almost fought for by eager purchasers two years ago at $24 a yard are now going a begging at $2-80 cents.!! This is a caution for owners and a grand opportunity for those who have cash to spare, as the crisis cannot last for ever.

On Friday last Dr. Wood presided at the Annual Meeting of the Officials and Teachers of the 1st A. M. E. Church Sunday School, when the Secretary gave a highly satisfactory report showing an increase both in Membership and attendances for the past year.

Export and Finance indulges in the following mild banter in reference to "the English of South America" and their fratricidal scrimmage:—"It sounds somewhat odd to read the telegrams that are occasionally published in New York from Chile. The Chilians are an enterprising people, and even if they have, any trouble among themselves, they have at least, varied the monotony of South American disputes by getting up one exclusively on the water. The insurrectionary government is said to be purely naval, and carries its jurisdiction wherever it swims. One of the beauties of this kind of a rebellion is that it promises to be comparatively bloodless. The army can't swim and the navy can't go ashore to fight. There has been nothing so unique and entertaining in naval annals since Sir Arthur Sullivan launched H. M. S. Pinafore and W. S. Gilbert placed Sir Joseph Porter, K. C. B., in command of her."

We have to thank Mr. Quinton for a large parcel of old clothes for the Naposta men. Madame Imelde, of the Sainte Unione Convent, has also kindly sent a second parcel of clothing.

The German community have opened subscriptton lists at the Turnverein, Germania and Concordia Clubs, and at the office of our esteemed contemporary the Deutsche Zeitung, to have a costly wreath laid on the tomb of the great Count Moltke.

The expected fun at the Town Council meeting on Monday did not come off, as the Lord Mayor talked away the bottled wrath of the Councillors. A Committee was named for the ungrateful task of seeing how to give "todo el esplendor posible" to the May Fetes, without a red cent being available to pay the piper. The only comical note of the sitting was the announcement of the mysterious disappearance of ten out of 95 of those unsavoury vehicles, Atmospheric Carts, for which the Corporation paid $200 each. Who stole the carts is the question. The rest of the city business transacted was all leather and prunella.

The Asistencia Publica has come down like a million of bricks on the devoted heads of no fewer than thirty six members of the medical profession who have been fined for not informing the said A. P. of infections cases under their care. The names of all the mulcted "medicos" end in a. e. i. o. u., and sometimes w and y, and there is not a single English name in the sorrowing lot.

The Villarino is not to go Southward Ho! on Saturday, nor till somebody decides when. It has taken the maritime authorities about three months not to get this vessel away, though the personnel of the Southern stations have been living on air, music and cold water for a much longer time, for want of the more substantial provender expected from this city.

Our prophetic soul tells us in a whisper that our London friends, and especially those who "secured" National Bank shares during the boom as the best of investments, will require a lot of smelling salts to stave off another fainting fit when they read the Report of the National Bank, which we publish in another column. None of the innumerable bogus concerns that have gone or are going to the wall could possibly show up worse than "el gran instituto de credito." A morning contemporary most felicitously calls the unfortunate concern "The Chamber of Horrors."

The races vetoed by Jupiter Pluvius on Sunday will come off to-day—wives and weather graciously permitting.

Twenty-two National Deputies from the Interior will be here to-morrow morning. They have turned their backs on their first loves, the C. N. and C. A. railways, and are coming to town by the Sunchales and Rosario line. It is expected that President Pellegrini will be able to address the collective wisdom on Monday next.

Sir Walter Scott said that the alleged origin of invention of cards produced one of the shrewdest replies he had ever heard given in evidence. It was made by the late Dr. Gregory at Edinburgh, to a counsel of great eminence at the Scottish bar. The doctor's testimony went to prove the insanity of the party whose mental capacity was the point at issue. On a cross interrogation he admitted that the person in question played admirably at whist. "And do you seriously say doctor," said the learned counsel, that a person having a superior capacity for a game so difficult, and which requires in a preeminent degree memory, judgment, and combination, can be at the same time deranged in his understanding? "I am no card player," replied the doctor, with great address; "but I have read in history that cards were invented for the amusement of an insane king." The consequences of this reply were decisive.

They had a cyclone at Lomas and Quilmes on Sunday. Some slates of the roof of the brewery were carried away; but that's nothing so long as the beer is left.

B. O. is going in for a Patriotic Loan. The Finance Minister and the Montevidean bankers put their heads together on the subject the other day, and the two English banks said they would think of advancing £100,000 for the State's immediate necessities, which appear to be unpleasantly pressing.

Mr. Ernest Nolte, the eminent bookseller, has on sale little maps of Chile which will be useful to amateur Admirals and Generals who wish to follow the incidents of the war and point out to admiring friends how much better they could conduct the campaign were they in command on either side.

Messrs. Samuel B Hale have advis e the Minister of the Interior that Messrs Bateman, Parsons and Bateman have made several technical errors in their plans of the City Improvement Works.

Mr. P. Sanberer has sent a bill to the Government for $42,000 for measurement of 1,062,750 hectares of National land in Santa Cruz.

The Custom House receipts to-day were as follows :—

Imports	$166,040.65
Exports	11,693.08
	177,733.73
Total receipts since Jan. 1st	14,299,047.59

The total receipts since April 1st to date amounted to $4,489,070.36 paper and $117,455.29 gold.

Passengers leaving to-morrow per R.M.S. Tagus : Miss A Peden, Mrs Hutety, G Langschwadt, Mr and Mrs A E Archer, Mr Effert, P Bruski, Mr C E Burrow, Madame Rebecca Katz, Mr Macauley, Miss Price, Miss Roebuck, Mr Treloar, Mr Roberts, Mr Coombe and son.

As more or less ample details of Dr. Benacocheas's project, to be presented at the opening of Congress, and to which we have already alluded as meeting with much support in the Chamber of Deputies, have leaked out, we give a summary of its leading features :—

The Government shall withdraw, through the agency of the Caja de Conversion, the $189,771,000 of banknotes now in circulation, and also purchase from the banks the 4½ % bonds guaranteeing their emission at 85 % of their nominal value, paying for same in the notes created by this law.

For this purpose the Government, through the Caja de Conversion, shall issue 170,000,000 of metallic notes, legal tender to the value of one gold dollar for all State or private obligations in gold created prior to or subsequent to the promulgation of this law, no matter what may have been the conditions or the coin stipulated, and legal tender for all engagements in paper at the rate of one dollar for every two dollars of the actual currency. From the promulgation of this law all contracts must be effected in this new metallic issue.

The Caja de Conversion shall convert when required by the holders all the actual currency in circulation at the rate of one national gold note for every two dollars paper, during a space of 12 months, and at the expiry of this term shall call in for conversion whatever balance of paper may remain in circulation, at the same rate of one for two.

The National Government shall, on the purchase of the 4½ % bonds, negotiate them partially or entirely, either here or abroad, and apply the proceeds of same to the conversion of the new notes. With regard to the banks, they will be handed back whatever balance remains to their credit from the sale of the bonds, subsequent to the deductions for the withdrawal of emission and payment of sagarésa that may be due for said bonds. As regards the bonds guaranteeing the emissions granted to the National and Provincial Banks by Law July 19th, 1890, they will be handed back to the Government, which must, however, undertake the withdrawal of the said emission, the banks being obliged to continue amortizing as at present.

Every bank must have a minimum cash balance of 25 % of its deposits before discounting, and must cease discounting when the minimum shall be below that figure. Exchange operations cannot be made with the deposits, and, furthermore, the assets must always be at least equal to the total of the deposits.

Every bank of deposit and discounts established in the Republic must within three months from date form itself into joint-stock company, of which the board of directors and president shall be elected by the shareholders. In case the majority of shares appertain to the nation or to a province, the board of directors shall be named by the shareholders in unison with 100 of the largest depositors, the president to be selected by the Government from a list of three names submitted by the same body. The depositors must have been same for at least six months successively, and the terna submitted to Government as well as two-thirds of the directors must be citizens or naturalized. The National Government shall name the syndic of the National Bank and the Provincial Governments the syndics of the various provincial establishments.

The banks can employ two-thirds of the 25 % minimum in the purchase of the 4½ % bonds, should the latter not be exhausted, and they can also resell them to the Caja de Conversion, as the money received by the later on this head cannot be utilized. The price of the bonds shall always be 85 %.

With regard to the issue of 60 million Treasury Bills, the amortization will be effected as usual, and the withdrawal of the 15 millions ordered by law shall be made with these notes.

The Government shall advance the Municipality nine million dollars of the new issue, receiving in guarantee municipal properties. This loan shall bear 3 % interest and 2 % amortization.

The National Mortgage Bank shall issue the 15 millions of Cedulas authorized by law—in the usual manner, and five millions of the new issue in loans to joint-stock companies against properties free of all encumbrances.

Until such time as the Government shall negotiate the sale of the 4½ % bonds and deliver proceeds of same to the Caja de Conversion, it must continue to pay to the latter the interest at present being paid to the banks.

The date for converting the new issue is fixed for 1st July, 1894, unless the 4½ % bonds be negotiated previously. The following will form the resources of the conversion fund :—

1st—Net product of the bills due by the banks (10,000,000).

2nd—Product of sale of the Tucuman-Jujuy Railway and branches (10,000,000).

3rd—Product of sale of Villa Maria-Rio IV. Railway (9,000,000).

4th—Interest on the balance of the 4½ % bonds not sold, and at present being paid to banks (8,000,000).

5th—Product of sale of 4½ % bonds (? %).

6th—Surplus of national revenue (10,000,000 in three years).

7th—Product of sale of Madero port, to be sold with obligation to finish same (15,000,000).

8th—Ten millions to be delivered by the National Bank from the Government's deposit, the Government undertaking not to draw further on this account until 1st July, 1894.
